A Message from the President

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

May is upon us and we are sending off the rest of the snow birds back north. Travel safe, have a great summer and we look forward to your return in the fall. For the rest of us, we try to enjoy some activities - mostly indoors with the summer heat. We also want those of you who remain to remember to start to prepare for the hurricane season. Remember we are all here to help each other out. If you need assistance let your team member know.

Just a little reminder for those of us who have visitors and guests using our facilities - remember it is your responsibility to clean up before you leave the facilities and you must be in attendance with your guests. I bring special attention to the pool room lately, chairs and tables need to be put back and dispose of your trash in the outside bins. It was not left in good condition recently so let's not misuse our facilities.

Summer brings us the movie nights and ice cream socials - always a good time. It's a nice way to spend an evening visiting and staying cool. We have a number of new residents here in the park - so if you see someone you don't know, stop and introduce yourself. Show them what a great community we are and welcome them to our family. Be sure to read all the upcoming events in your Gator Tales, we have lots of activities coming up.

If you see me out, feel free to stop me with any suggestions, comments or just to say hello.

Jerry Sibila, President

Cinco de Mayo

What does Cinco de Mayo celebrate?

Cinco de Mayo is a celebration of Mexican heritage, culture, and pride.

When is Cinco de Mayo celebrated?

May 5th. This is in honor of when the Mexican army defeated the French in the Battle of Puebla on May 5, 1862.

Who celebrates this day?

The day is mostly celebrated by people of Mexican heritage in the United States. It is also celebrated in some areas of Mexico, especially the state of Puebla. Many non-Mexicans in the United States celebrate the day.

What do people do to celebrate?

The day is celebrated with parades, carnivals, street fairs, and sometimes fireworks at night. There are some traditional Mexican celebrations such as the Baile Folklórico dance along with mariachi music. People dress up in traditional Mexican clothing as well. Some parades or festivals may include a reenactment of the Battle of Puebla

Major celebrations in the United States include:

- Chicago - A large festival is held each year in Douglas Park including live music, food, cultural displays, and games for kids.
- San Antonio - The famous Market Square is home to a huge celebration including outdoor concerts and food.
- Denver - The Cinco de Mayo Culture Festival in Denver specializes in all types of Mexican music and lasts for two days.
- San Marco - Another Texas town with a big celebration. They have a salsa contest and crown their own Miss Cinco de Mayo.
- Los Angeles - Probably the largest Cinco de Mayo celebration in the world is held in downtown Los Angeles, California.

The day is also used to educate people on the heritage of Mexican Americans. This includes programs put on by schools and libraries. Important icons and people are studied including Cesar Chavez and Our Lady of Guadalupe.

Many celebrations include Mexican food and music. The holiday is fairly commercial with restaurants and bars using the day to get people to come out and spend money.

History of Cinco de Mayo

The day marks a historical battle between the Mexican army and the French. The Battle of Puebla took place on May 5, 1862. The Mexicans were largely outnumbered by the French. However, led by Mexican General Ignacio Zaragoza Seguín they managed to hold off and defeat the French.

It is thought the day was first celebrated by Mexicans living in California during the American Civil War. The holiday became more popular in the 1960s and then became widespread in the United States with commercialization in the 1990s.

Fun Facts About Cinco de Mayo

- The 5th of May is not Mexico's Independence Day, which is celebrated on September 16th.
- Not too long after winning the Battle of Puebla, the Mexicans lost their capital to the French and the French took control of the country. The French rule only lasted a few years, however.
- The holiday is more celebrated in the United States than in Mexico.
- In Chandler, Arizona they hold Chihuahua dog races on this day.

History of Mother's Day: Anna Jarvis

Anna Jarvis is recognized as the Founder of Mother's' Day in US. Though Anna Jarvis never married and never had kids, she is also known as the Mother of Mother's Day, an apt title for the lady who worked hard to bestow honor on all mothers.

Anna Jarvis got the inspiration of celebrating Mother's Day from her own mother, Mrs. Anna Marie Reeves Jarvis, in her childhood. An activist and social worker, Mrs. Jarvis used to express her desire that someday someone must honor all mothers, living and dead, and pay tribute to the contributions made by them.

A loving daughter, Anna never forgot her mother's word and when her mother died in 1905, she resolved to fulfill her mother's desire of having a Mother's Day. Growing negligent attitude of adult Americans towards their mothers and a desire to honor her mother soared her ambitions.

To begin with Anna put Carnations in the church service in Grafton, West Virginia to honor her mother. Carnations were her mother's favorite flower and Anna felt that they symbolized a mother's pure love. Later, Anna along with her supporters, wrote letters to people in positions of power lobbying for the official declaration of Mother's Day holiday. The hard work paid off. By 1911, Mother's Day was celebrated in almost every state in the Union and on May 8, 1914 President Woodrow Wilson signed a Joint Resolution designating the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day.
