A Message from the President

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

Hello, hope this finds all well with everyone. I can't believe that it is September already. All the kids are back in school, so please be careful in school zones.

We are approaching the peak of the Hurricane season, with only a few named storms. Don't let this slow start keep you from being ready in case one heads our way.

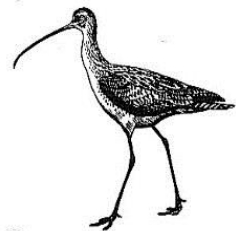

We will be having our first HOA meeting of the season. The meeting will be held on Tuesday Sept. 10th at 7pm at the clubhouse. Please plan on attending and see what is planned for the near future.

We have all the panels installed and have heard good reports on the acoustics at the clubhouse. I would like to give a Big Thank You to the Acoustics Committee for their hard work on this project to its completion and all who helped on the installation.

It is time that we will be welcoming back all our friends from the north. We hope you all had a great summer and we all look forward to seeing all of you and to get started on our Fall and Winter events. In closing I would like to invite anyone who would like to join us at our Board Meeting to be held on Tuesday Sept. 3rd at 7pm at the clubhouse. You would all have a chance to address the board. Hope to see you all there.

If you see me out, feel free to stop me with any suggestions, comments or just to say hello.

Jerry Sibila, President.

Hurricane Season Update - 2019

by The HOA Emergency Preparedness Team

Most of you know by now that the HOA's Emergency Preparedness Team was formed in 2018 to provide information and assistance to residents. The team has a plan in place to help residents when a storm is headed our way. YOU are the most important member of the team at LHV.

Many of you have been through this before and know how important it is to be prepared, to have batteries, flashlights, water, and nonperishable food items.

Most of us are on high alert, as we should be, for changes in weather patterns. Over the past year we have had a number of new residents who may not be familiar with this process. Our team is available to answer any questions you may have. Perhaps you could reach out to new neighbors and try to help them with information or give them our contact information below.

The team will be meeting soon to discuss issues affecting everyone here. Since hurricane season runs through November, it might be helpful for the team to have an open house sometime after Labor Day. We will be discussing this.

Part of being prepared is to think about what you do and plan for this when a storm is coming. Do you plan to stay here? Do you plan to evacuate? What are your options. You should be thinking about this now. In 2017 when residents began to look for hotels one member told us that the nearest one was in GEORGIA! As it turned out, there were local options. The Disney Resorts apparently had rooms available. The team has put together a hotel listing but this has not been updated since early 2019 due to lack of volunteers. We do have that list if anyone wants it. It can be e-mailed to you. Think about pets when planning this. Many hotels charge a daily pet charge. Check on this now, not when the storm turns and is coming our way.

Always be aware.

Keep an eye on the weather channels.

Don't procrastinate! DO IT NOW!

We are all hoping for a safe season, but everyone needs to be prepared just in case.

If you need help or have questions, CALL ONE OF US!

Happy fall!

Yes, the season for chunky scarves, pumpkin-spiced everything and fantasy football is upon us. Fall, autumn, harvest season -- whatever you call it -- starts Friday, September 23, at 4:02 pm ET in the Northern Hemisphere. Here are some interesting things to know about the season:

1. Fall isn't caused by the Earth's distance from the sun

That's right. The Earth's distance from the sun at any given point doesn't determine whether you'll be sweating out your white tee or shivering in your snow boots. Fall, like all of the seasons, is caused by the Earth's tilt in relation to the sun. It gets warmer in each hemisphere when that hemisphere tilts toward the sun and colder when it leans away.

2. 'Fall leaf' colors actually exist all year long

Now, don't get too excited. While leaves have the potential to be yellow and orange \(and sometimes purple or red\) all year long, seeing the colors during other seasons is not likely. In spring and summer, the pigment chlorophyll gives leaves their green color. At the end of summer, the decreased daylight and cooler temperatures cause chlorophyll to break down and that exposes other pigments that cause the brilliant yellow, orange, red leaves of fall.

3. Oh, fall leaf tourism brings in BIG MONEY

It's called "leaf peeping." When the chlorophyll fades and those captivating colors finally glow through, people travel from near and far to take a closer look (and lots of pictures). States in New England, a popular destination for leaf peepers, rake in billions in tourism dollars each fall.

4. Fall is only 'fall' to Americans, even though the term was coined in Britain

What do you call the picking of ripe sweet potatoes, squash and pumpkins? Harvest. That was the word used until the 1300s to describe the next few months of weather. Because "harvest" also meant the gathering of ripe crops, when the word "autumn" showed up in English writing its popularity soared.

Some time after, poets coined the phrase "the fall of leaves" -- shortened to "fall" in the 1600s. The word "autumn" still remained popular throughout England's period of colonizing the world. The lack of consistent communication between the English and the people in the American colonies led to differences in the language. By the mid-1800s, the word "fall" had firmly rooted itself in America.

5. The flavor pumpkin spice doesn't actually taste quite like pumpkins

We're here -- the time of year when your favorite snacks hit store shelves (and Starbucks) in pumpkin-spice flavors. We're talking lattes, cereal, ice cream, butter and even yogurt.

But what exactly goes into the beloved flavor of fall? Truth is, it's almost never the orange-fleshed vegetable -- pumpkin. Instead, the flavor comes from a mix of ground cinnamon, nutmeg, dry ginger and cloves, except when food companies take over. Most times, they create a synthetic version using chemicals found naturally in pumpkins and some of the previously listed spices. Those chemicals trick your brain into thinking that whatever concoction you're consuming is pumpkin.

MORNING CHUCKLE.....They weren't in my pockets. Suddenly I realized I must have left them in the car. Frantically, I headed for the parking lot. My husband has scolded me many times for leaving my keys in the car's ignition. He's afraid that the car could be stolen. As I looked around the parking lot, I realized he was right. The parking lot was empty. I immediately called the police. I gave them my location, confessed that I had left my keys in the car, and that it had been stolen.

Then, I made the most difficult call of all to my husband: "I left my keys in the car and it's been stolen."

There was a moment of silence. I thought the call had been disconnected, but then I heard his voice. "Are you kidding me?" he barked, "I dropped you off!"

Now it was my turn to be silent. Embarrassed, I said, "Well, come and get me."

He retorted, "I will; just as soon as I convince this cop that I didn't steal your damn car!"
