A Message from the President

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

Hello to you all, I hope this message finds everyone well and staying safe. I think that our short spring season has moved to summer.

I am glad to see some of our residents have refreshed the mulch and cleaned their flower beds up. This is our community, and we should all take pride in what we can control.

I was doing some checking on our vaccine progress in Polk County. The numbers as of today are as follows: Population is 668,600 residents and of that total the number of people receiving their first vaccine dose is 32%, and people having second shot or fully vaccinated is only 20.45%. These numbers where shocking to me. I thought we would be further than that by now, especially with the open vaccine times now becoming available. I hope all who are eligible are planning on getting their vaccine. Once the numbers come down and more people become vaccinated the CDC should revisit the guidelines they have in place; and once that happens, we could ALL resume our lives as normal. I look forward to resuming our activities and seeing more people.

The board will be looking for volunteers for the Statutory Committee. The committee consists of 5 members with one alternate as needed. Please see any board member if you are interested in this committee. The Data Research book used for rent comparisons will be available mid to the end of May. Soon after that the Committee needs to meet under CDC Guidelines.

Please feel free to contact me or any board member with any questions or concerns. And remember, remain safe! Again, thank you for your support and confidence. See you out and about.

Respectfully, Jerry Sibila

Vera Krause

With sadness, Susan Krause announces the passing of her mother, Vera Krause, on Sunday, April 11. Vera was 84 years old. Vera was a long-time resident of Lake Hammock Village, having lived at 120 Silver Crest since 2003. Sadly, 2020 was a very difficult year for my mother, who suffered with her rheumatoid arthritis and then a sudden onset of severe dementia. After being isolated at home for most of the year, she moved to the Palm Garden nursing home in Winter Haven in September, and so was not able to be active in the park nor socialize for a long time. A funeral mass was held in Haines City on April 20 and we will have additional services with family in CT at a later date. Her obituary can be found at www.oakridgefuneralcare.com

Potluck and Karaoke Party

Clark and I would like to thank all those that came to the Potluck and Karaoke party in March. There were about 35 to 40 people there and lots of good food. It was great to see everyone out and enjoying themselves. We had lots of fun and it was good to fellowship with old friends and meet some new residents. I am sorry I cannot post the pictures I took, I am having problems downloading them. Again, we appreciate everyone that came out and supported the event and we look forward to planning some other stuff in the future.

8 Things You May Not Know About Memorial Day

From its Civil War origins to its modern-day traditions, find out more about America's most solemn holiday.

Memorial Day and its traditions may have ancient roots.

While the first commemorative Memorial Day events were not held in the United States until the late 19th century, the practice of honoring those who have fallen in battle dates back thousands of years. The ancient Greeks and Romans held annual days of remembrance for loved ones (including soldiers) each year, festooning their graves with flowers and holding public festivals and feasts in their honor. In Athens, public funerals for fallen soldiers were held after each battle, with the remains of the dead-on display for public mourning before a funeral procession took them to their internment in the Kerameikos, one of the city's most prestigious cemeteries. One of the first known public tributes to war dead was in 431 B.C., when the Athenian general and statesman Pericles delivered a funeral oration praising the sacrifice and valor of those killed in the Peloponnesian War—a speech that some have compared in tone to Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

One of the earliest commemorations was organized by recently freed slaves.

As the Civil War neared its end, thousands of Union soldiers, held as prisoners of war, were herded into a series of hastily assembled camps in Charleston, South Carolina. Conditions at one camp, a former racetrack near the city's Citadel, were so bad that more than 250 prisoners died from disease or exposure and were buried in a mass grave behind the track's grandstand.

Three weeks after the Confederate surrender, an unusual procession entered the former camp: On May 1, 1865, more than 1,000 recently freed slaves, accompanied by regiments of the U.S. Colored Troops (including the Massachusetts 54th Infantry) and a handful of white Charlestonians, gathered in the camp to consecrate a new, proper burial site for the Union dead. The group sang hymns, gave readings and distributed flowers around the cemetery, which they dedicated to the "Martyrs of the Racecourse."

READ MORE: One of the Earliest Memorial Day Ceremonies Was Held by Freed Slaves

The holiday's "founder" had a long and distinguished career.

In May 1868, General John A. Logan, the commander-in-chief of the Union veterans' group known as the Grand Army of the Republic, issued a decree that May 30 should become a nationwide day of commemoration for the more than 620,000 soldiers killed in the recently ended Civil War. On Decoration Day, as Logan dubbed it, Americans should lay flowers and decorate the graves of the war dead "whose bodies now lie in almost every city, village and hamlet churchyard in the land."

According to legend, Logan chose May 30 because it was a rare day that did not fall on the anniversary of a Civil War battle, though some historians believe the date was selected to ensure that flowers across the country would be in full bloom.

After the war Logan, who had served as a U.S. congressman before resigning to rejoin the army, returned to his political career, eventually serving in both the House and Senate and was the unsuccessful Republican candidate for vice president in 1884. When he died two years later, Logan's body laid in state in the rotunda of the United States Capitol, making him one of just 33 people to have received the honor. Today, Washington, D.C.'s Logan Circle and several townships across the country are named in honor of this champion of veterans and those killed in battle.

Logan probably adapted the idea from earlier events in the South.

Even before the war ended, women's groups across much of the South were gathering informally to decorate the graves of Confederate dead. In April 1886, the Ladies Memorial Association of Columbus, Georgia resolved to commemorate the fallen once a year—a decision that seems to have influenced John Logan to follow suit, according to his own wife. However, southern commemorations were rarely held on one standard day, with observations differing by state and spread out across much of the spring and early summer. It is a tradition that continues today: Nine southern states officially recognize a Confederate Memorial Day, with events held on Confederate President Jefferson Davis' birthday, the day on which General Thomas "Stonewall" Jackson was killed, or to commemorate other symbolic events.

It did not become a federal holiday until 1971.

Americans embraced the notion of "Decoration Day" immediately. That first year, more than 27 states held some sort of ceremony, with more than 5,000 people in attendance at a ceremony at Arlington National Cemetery. By 1890, every former state of the Union had adopted it as an official holiday. But for more than 50 years, the holiday was used to commemorate those killed just in the Civil War, not in any other American conflict. It wasn't until America's entry into World War I that the tradition was expanded to include those killed in all wars, and Memorial Day was not officially recognized nationwide until the 1970s, with America deeply embroiled in the Vietnam War.

It was a long road from Decoration Day to an official Memorial Day.

Although the term Memorial Day was used beginning in the 1880s, the holiday was officially known as Decoration Day for more than a century, when it was changed by federal law. Four years later, the Uniform Monday Holiday Act of 1968 finally went into effect, moving Memorial Day from its traditional observance on May 30 (regardless of the day of the week), to a set day—the last Monday in May. The move has not been without controversy, though. Veterans' groups, concerned that more Americans associate the holiday with first long weekend of the summer and not its intended purpose to honor the nation's war dead, continue to lobby for a return to the May 30 observances. For more than 20 years, their cause was championed by Hawaiian Senator—and decorated World War II veteran—Daniel Inouye, who until his 2012 death reintroduced legislation in support of the change at the start of every Congressional term.

More than 20 towns claim to be the holiday's "birthplace"—but only one has federal recognition.

For almost as long as there has been a holiday, there's been a rivalry about who celebrated it first. Boalsburg, Pennsylvania, bases its claim on an 1864 gathering of women to mourn those recently killed at Gettysburg. In Carbondale, Illinois, they are certain that they were first, thanks to an 1866 parade led, in part, by John Logan who two years later would lead the charge for an official holiday. There are even two dueling Columbus challengers (one in Mississippi, the other in Georgia) who have battled it out for Memorial Day supremacy for decades. Only one town, however, has received the official seal of approval from the U.S. government. In 1966, 100 years after the town of Waterloo, New York, shuttered its businesses and took to the streets for the first of many continuous, community-wide celebrations, President Lyndon Johnson signed legislation, recently passed by the U.S. Congress, declaring the tiny upstate village the "official" birthplace of Memorial Day.

Wearing a red poppy on Memorial Day began with a World War I poem.

In the spring of 1915, bright red flowers began poking through the battle-ravaged land across northern France and Flanders (northern Belgium). Canadian Lieutenant Colonel John McCrae, who served as a brigade surgeon for an Allied artillery unit, spotted a cluster of the poppies shortly after serving as a brigade surgeon during the bloody Second Battle of Ypres. The sight of the bright red flowers against the dreary backdrop of war inspired McCrae to pen the poem, "In Flanders Field," in which he gives voice to the soldiers who had been killed in battle and lay buried beneath the poppy-covered grounds. Later that year, a Georgia teacher and volunteer war worker named Moina Michael read the poem in Ladies' Home Journal and wrote her own poem, "We Shall Keep the Faith" to begin a campaign to make the poppy a symbol of tribute to all who died in war. The poppy remains a symbol of remembrance to this day.

Memorial Day traditions have evolved over the years.

Despite the increasing celebration of the holiday as a summer rite of passage, there are some formal rituals still on the books: The American flag should be hung at half-staff until noon on Memorial Day, then raised to the top of the staff. And since 2000, when the U.S. Congress passed legislation, all Americans are encouraged to pause for a National Moment of Remembrance at 3 p.m. local time. The federal government has also used the holiday to honor non-veterans—the Lincoln Memorial was dedicated on Memorial Day 1922.

Sally Phillips 35 Sargent St Resident since 2004

Sally was born in Stamford, CT, but moved to FL the summer she turned 9. Their doctor advised her family to move to AZ or FL because both she and her mother had asthma and bronchitis. They first tried AZ although she did not get better, they then tried FL after a year here, both her asthma and bronchitis cleared.

Her family always had pleasure boats on Long Island Sound. When the family settled in Hollywood, FL her father bought a 40 ft sports fishing boat and captained it for a living. That is where she grew up loving the water.

Sally attended Broward Jr. College and obtained her Secretarial Science degree. After college she took a job at FL Atlantic University in the Financial Aid office. This is when she married Joe Midzalkowski a former high school classmate. Joe enrolled in electronics. Sally was handling "Peace Corp" literature seeing an ad "Peace Corp goes to Paradise". She and Joe were intrigued and applied. After training they wound up spending 3 & ½ years as "TESLA" teachers on an outer island in Micronesia in the Pacific. This is the only "Atoll" in the world with 3 lagoons. They were able to gain a grant to build a two room-school for the island.

Sally and Joe adopted one of their students "Nerry" and returned to FL for Joe to finish his teaching degree. Sally then had their daughter Sarah. They then returned to the Marshall Islands for 2 years, where Joe taught high school and Sally had their daughter Amy. Sarah learned the Marshall language and enjoyed playing with the children. On returning to the United States, they settled in Haines City where there was a teaching position for Joe. Sally stayed home raising Nerry and 2 preschoolers. Joe and Sally divorced after 15 years.

Sally is showing mementos from the Marshall Islands.

Hurricane Planning Update: May 2020

by

The HOA Emergency Preparedness Team

Last month we outlined the history of our planning efforts over the past several years. The goals of the Emergency Preparedness Team are to help each other, keep our residents safe, and try to assist everyone to be better prepared in times of hurricane threats. As we know, 'Hurricane Season' will be here soon as it begins around June 1st and runs until about November 30th.

We have been fortunate over the past two years that no hurricanes have come our way. We have had a few close calls, but thankfully those resulted only in some high winds and rain. We would like to think that we were prepared but we can always do better. Preparation is an individual matter. Over the past couple of years, the Team has tried to assist residents in any way we can.

Since last month we have been in contact with Jerri Kaplan of the Polk County Emergency Planning Office. She has agreed to assist us in obtaining 2021 Shelter Maps and other information for residents. She has also advised us that her office has approved public education programs. This is great news. In 2019 we had a presentation by Jerri at the Clubhouse. The plan to do this in 2020 was derailed by the COVID 19 crisis. We will be discussing this further with the HOA and looking for their input and guidance. We will have more information in next month's article.

For 2021, the Team has divided LHV into eight zones as seen in the map below. The plan is to have contact people / volunteers in each zone. After discussing this with the HOA, the Team will once again ask for volunteers, and will have a list in next month's issue.

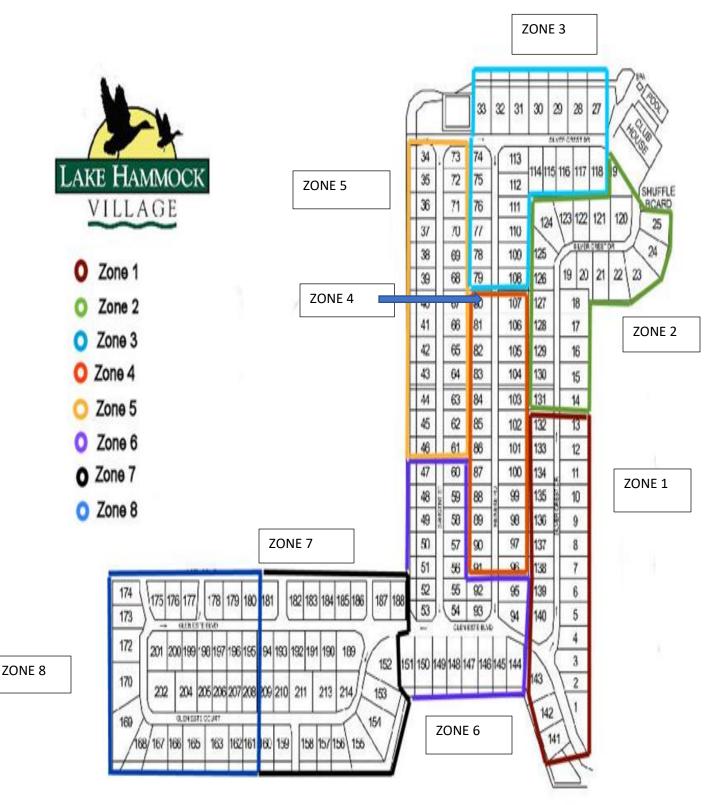

Each Zone will have a coordinator. We hope to have others in each zone available to help with a few things if needed.

The zone coordinator would be the contact person for anyone in the zone who has questions, needs information, or needs help in any way.

So, rest assured that the Team is busy planning and preparing, and we recommend that you begin this process too. We will have more information for you next month. In the meantime, if you have any questions or wish to volunteer, please contact Dave Graham at (603) 915-1368 or davemg1@outlook.com.

With the sorrow of Fred Blicker's passing we will continue his and Jeanne's legacy of caring and kindness through the food bank.

The April food total is 116 items, not including a large amount of toiletries. Thank you so much for your generosity and making the world a better place to live in.

Instead of weighing the food we will be counting the items and showing the total in the clubhouse. The food will be delivered to "The House Blest" every first and third Friday of the month. We spoke to the pastor and he expressed his gratitude and sent God's blessings to all of us.

Thank you for your support!

To our valued customers.

During the current times we wanted to let you know that we are taking as many precautions as we can to ensure not only our workers safety but yours as well. We check workers' temperatures each morning and have limited the amount of contact our crews have with each other. Our crews work in Tyvek suits with respiretors which helps to ensure your safety as well as theirs.

As a company, we want your business and there is no need for any contact if you so choose. Our business is deemed an "Essential Business" and we are here for you when you need us. You can schedule your inspection by calling 1-800-681-3772.
